would award that honor to the Navisional.

Who runks as the premier first sucker of the country is considerable of an open question now and may be even more so by the time the end of the season draws near. For this distinction the older longue certainly can present a larger number of cligible candidates.

Considering value on both offense and defence, we would rate the Navisional lenguers in this order. Juke Taubert, Brooklyn; Fred Merkie, New Yerk; Vic Saier, Chicago: Ed Konetchy, Boston; Dots Miller, St. Leuler, Fred Lasterus, Philadolphia; Doc Johnston, Daubert Best First Sackne.

Daubert in our opinion is the king of first mackers. A star at fielding his position—mobady excels him, if medeed anybody towenes him—he is also the most valuable all around man of the lot on offense. Jake has led the league in hitting twice. He is a skilful base Tunner with plenty of speed, Best of all, he is a master bounter. Few persons outside those actively engaged in the game realize the full value of a man who can lay down a well placed bast. A good bunt is the sure way to make a double play impossible. It also is a dependable means of bringing a man in from third base. Daubert, also a good waiter, a fine judge of a ball or strike, gets or base a good deal more than oven his fine batting average indicates.

Merkle, Saler and Mchunis we regard as Brooklyn Jake's chief rival for the surpemary. The first of these three is a hit better base runner than Daubert and close to him in everything else that applies to the mechanical side of the game, but his occasional had mental inpose during crucial moments of important games form sufficient reason for relegating him from the plunacle. Safer is close to Daubert in general elseincy, but is not so clever in working a pitcher nor so agile on the base paths. Frawing from the American league, we find little McInnis as its foremost representative. We have line above both Markle and Saler.

Metanis is a marvel, a world's won-ten rounds to hammer him into unconsoloumess.

Ever since the fight the question has been asked:

"If Moran had possessed Williard's physical advantages, what would have heen the outsime of the majority of those at the ringside. Moran would have accred a kneckout under such conditions had he fought with the aggressiveness he displayed Saturday night.

If Willard had weighed only 301 and spiraled his feet against 232 and 6-7 for Moran, the chances are that the bout would had he fought with the least of the fight. It was the hig playsical bandicap he had to give that least the fight for Moran. That's a belief that is practically unanimose. Against any man of his own size, or ngainst a smaller man, Moran wild have triumphed with ease Saturday night. He deash some sledge hammer blows and though he was beaten round after round he kept boring in. He never stapped. He carried the fight to the champion. But the IFS don't figure willand took unto himself the victory. The might have-been ideasn't figure in the records.

Against any man of his own size, or ngainst a smaller in the practically unanimous and though have a smaller in the practically unanimous and though have a smaller in the practical property of the sum of the property of the sum of the property of the sum of the property o McInnis is a Marcel.

McInnis is a marvel, a world's wonder. Never in the game's history has there been a man so andil as he that could last through hard big league campaigns and maintain his prestige as a first baseman. It used to be a household saying that a first baseman had to be talk. McInnis is as anail as any player in the game with the exception of its absolute midgein such as Mainel, Bush, Hungins and Fester. His remarkable ability to leave his feet going after high throws or hits over him relegates to some extent the disadvantage be suffers from being tims. He is almost the equal of Daubert in anything the latter does and superior to him in a number of things, but he has to take second timb because of the occasions when Daubert our reach a throw that is beyond him. Even hurls to the side accurding better McInnis and draw him off the bug, for he cavit lunge as far with those short legs as his taller brethren.

Upper Valley Lands To Be Drained; Lower Valley To Have Ditch.

F. E. Warmouth, chief of construction of the United States reclamation ser-vice, in in this section from his head charters in Denver for an ispection of the reclamation projects in this dis-trict.

Mr. Warmouth, in company with Raymond E. Walter, project, engineer of the reclamation service of El Paco, will go to Elephant Butte dam Tresslay. About a week will be spent in this section.

About a week will be spent in this section.

Mr. Warmouth came here from San Diego where he has been recuperating from an attack of pneumonia. He will return to Denver later.

Work will start shortly on the new drainage disch in the upper valley, according to Mr. Walter. This ditch is to extend from Meilla Park to Anthony, and right of way has been secured for the first three miles at the upper end. The disch will branch off into two ditches at Burino, one branch to skirt the foot hills and the other to extend in the lower part of the valley and drain Mesquito lake. Mr. Walter has ordered some large direing machines for the work.

The ditch in the lower valley will extend from a point just above Ysieta to Fabens a distance of about 10 miles. Right of way for this ditch is now being secured and Mr. Walter hopes to be able to start work at Fabens before long.

Doubt If Chase Comes Back.

Taking the rest of the first basemen in the two learnes, it is much harder to rate them accurately. It is doubtful if Hal Chase will come have into his old giory with Cheimani. Joe Judge of Washington is a youngster becoming his first real season of big league play. He may be a star, as clark Griffith pays he is, or he may be a fash in the man.
